Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on March 28, 2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 7,8 and 10-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Farrell. Regarding claims 7,8 and 12 Farrell US 5,246,329 discloses a device for hauling disabled vehicles comprising:

a loading ramp(40) pivotally connected to a vehicle (10);

a loading platform (60) slidable along said ramp between a fully loaded position where said platform overlies said ramp and a fully extended position where said platform is substantially rearward of said ramp;

wherein said platform employs a cylinder (110) which enables the platform to move over a distance substantially twice that of the cylinder ram's length; at least first and second cable elements (122,126) adapted to move the platform in a first and a second direction relative to the cylinder extending and retracting respectively;

wherein one or more pulleys are attached to said cylinder and adapted to move said cables.

Regarding claim 10 Farrell also discloses that the shaft holding the pulleys is pivotally mounted to frame members (70) which are slidably connected to said platform.

Regarding claim 11 Farrell also discloses that the cylinder is mounted to said ramp which is supported by the vehicle chassis, therefore the cylinder is also supported by said chassis.

Regarding claims 13-15 Farrell further discloses that the device uses two sliding blocks (66) each mounted on a respective side of the loading ramp and connected to said platform via a pivotal connection (68).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed February 5, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Extension and retraction of the cylinder and it's associated pulley does cause extension and retraction of the platform as well as moving both the extension and retraction cables. As there is no other means for extending and retracting the platform the cylinder pulley must move the first and second cable elements.

All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the earlier application and were finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the last Office action Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action in this case after a request for continued examination. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no, however, event will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
